INTERNATIONAL REMOTE VIEWING ASSOCIATION

CALL FOR PAPERS 2014 IRVA Conference June 27-29, 2014

The 2014 Remote Viewing Conference, sponsored by the International Remote Viewing Association (IRVA), seeks to provide a forum for the presentation and discussion of remote viewing and related subjects. In particular, but not exclusively, our aim is to enrich the issues and contribute to the understanding of remote viewing with empirical research and an overall perspective.

The attached Speaker Release Form must accompany each response to the Call for Papers. The form grants the International Remote Viewing Association (IRVA) and its agents, designees or representative's permission to record your presentation(s) by any means and to take photographs during your participation in connection with the events at the International Remote Viewing Association Conference, June 27-29, 2014, at Green Valley Ranch, Resort and Spa, Henderson, Nevada. No abstract will be approved without a signed Speaker Release Form.

Any filming and photography by presenters and/or attendees of the International Remote Viewing Association conference is strictly prohibited, whether by video, still or digital photography, audio or any other recording or reproduction mechanism.

TOPICS

We solicit your finest submissions in any area that explores issues relevant to remote viewing or related fields. Appropriate topics include remote viewing history, philosophy, theory, practice, training techniques, research, etc. However, innovative contributions that do not fit into these criteria will also be considered since they may be of interest to conference attendees. Acceptance will be based primarily on significance and quality of contribution. IRVA encourages our speakers to be original, and special consideration will be given to new presentations.

If you are uncertain as to what remote viewing is, please visit the IRVA Remote Viewing Library.

LENGTH AND FORMATTING REQUIREMENTS

The program will consist of presentations in 30, 60 or 90-minute increments. Time limits will be enforced, so please be sure your presentation is accurately timed:

- Presentation (½ hour time block): Presentations should continue for 15-20 minutes, allowing time for a 10-minute question and answer period.
- Presentation (1 hour time block): Presentations should continue for 25 to 30 minutes, allowing time for a 15-minute question and answer period. Most of the available time slots are 1 hour. You will increase your chances for acceptance by applying for this category.
- Presentation (1½ hour time block): Presentations should continue for 45 to 60 minutes, allowing time for a 15-minute question and answer period. Please include a justification as to why you need extra time to cover your topic. This presentation slot cannot be shared with another presenter.

All proposals should be submitted electronically (in PDF if possible, MS Word otherwise) and are not to exceed 2 pages in length (or email equivalent). To encourage broad participation, the conference11 committee discourages multiple appearances by the same individual on the program. Submissions must include the following:

- A short title that captures the premise of the presentation:

- A two or three sentence statement outlining the goal of the presentation. Please keep in mind that this will be the description of your presentation in the conference program:

---

- A brief narrative or abstract of the proposed presentation or workshop, and how it relates to remote viewing. Include the approximate time required for your presentation:

---

---

- A brief description of your background (approximately 20 words) for the conference program. Please provide in addition a longer bio or CV focusing on education and/or qualifications that are relevant to your presentation for our conference website. Your longer bio or CV can be submitted by email:

---

- Presenter's contact information must include name, address, phone and e-mail addresses:

Name _____

Address _____

City _____, State _____ Zip _____

Phone _____, Email _____

- Workshops must be well thought out and organized. If you intend to include audience participation in your presentation you must notify IRVA in advance.

IF YOUR PROPOSAL DOES NOT MEET OUR GENERAL GUIDELINES IT MAY BE RETURNED TO YOU FOR MODIFICATION.

HOW TO SUBMIT

Proposals must be submitted to the Conference Committee through Pam Coronado no later than January 30, 2014, at pcoronado@irva.org.

FINAL ACCEPTANCE

In the past, the number of proposals recommended for acceptance has exceeded the number of available slots in the IRVA program. Unfortunately, even if submissions meet the conference criteria, no guarantee can be made concerning whether a proposal will be accepted. All submissions, except invited talks, are subject to review and final determination by the Conference Committee. Presentations cannot be changed after final acceptance without the express permission of the Conference Committee.

The Notification of Acceptance is February 15, 2014.

Within the bounds of good order, audience members are free to pose questions and voice objections or approval after a presentation. Please be prepared to field this commentary with appropriate decorum.

NOTE: Acceptance of a proposal does not constitute endorsement of the presenter's opinions by IRVA or the IRVA Conference.

PHOTOS, ILLUSTRATIONS, AND OTHER GRAPHICS

The conference standard for presentation graphics is Microsoft PowerPoint. Any images, charts, graphs, etc., that you wish to incorporate into your presentation must be in the form of PowerPoint slides. Your final PowerPoint submission must be received by IRVA no later than June 13, 2014. Due to PowerPoint presenter problems in the past, this date is not negotiable.
